Financial Supervision Department Accounting Circular 84-05 “Late filing of regulatory reports”

03 July 2005 – 12 Saratan 1384

To: Chief Executive Officers of licensed commercial banks
General Managers of permitted branches of foreign banks

This Supervisory Circular continues a series of communications between the Financial Supervision Department (Department) of Da Afghanistan Bank (DAB, the central bank) and regulated financial institutions (licensed commercial banks and permitted branches of foreign banks). The purpose of these Circulars is to bring to the attention of the responsible executive (the Chief Executive Officer of a bank or the General Manager of a branch) supervisory matters or requests applicable to financial institutions.

Late filing of regulatory reports not to be tolerated

As you know, banking organizations are required to submit the complete set of required regulatory reports to DAB on or before the 15th of each Julian calendar month (approximately the 24th of each solar calendar month). Timely and accurate submission of data is essential for DAB to perform its supervisory and statistical functions, and is also extremely important to the management of the banking organizations themselves.

Unfortunately, however, DAB is continuing to experience a problem with late filing of these reports. The identity of the late filers changes from month to month. When contacted, some banking organizations have cited problems such as the responsible person going on holiday, the requirements of the external audit, and other excuses.

DAB hereby informs you that these practices are unacceptable. It is your responsibility to ensure that the appropriate staff are allocated to the task so that the reports can be filed on time.

Revisions to reports must be submitted promptly

In addition to the problem of late filing, banking organizations have also been slow in submitting necessary revisions to DAB. When DAB informs you that a report must be revised, you will have two business days to send the revised reports back to DAB. Failure to do so will be considered a late filing, as if the report had never been submitted at all.

Problem of repeated errors of the same type

Another problem experienced by DAB from time to time is the repetition of errors of the same type. For example, even though banking organizations have been instructed repeatedly to report income and expense items calculated on a monthly basis – not on a cumulative, year-to-date basis – some banks are continuing to present their income and expense items on a cumulative basis. These repeated errors are irresponsible, and you must take the responsibility of ensuring that the data are submitted in the correct way.

Enforcement actions to punish late filers

Furthermore, DAB informs you that it has full authority to apply enforcement actions against banking organizations for late or incorrect filing of reports. According to the Law on Banking in Afghanistan, Article 42.8:

“Da Afghanistan Bank may impose sanctions on banks, financial institutions and agents, and their management in the event of incomplete or late reporting, non-reporting, inaccurate reporting, or knowingly filing false or misleading reports.”

DAB interprets this Article as authorizing it to take any and all enforcement actions that are enumerated in Articles 46, 47, and 48 of the Law on Banking in Afghanistan, including the removal of management. In addition, when processing approvals for applications (such as to establish a new branch, appoint a new administrator, bring in a new shareholder, engage in equity investments above permitted thresholds, etc.) DAB will take into account the record of the banking organization in submitting its required reports in a timely manner in deciding whether or not to approve the application.
